Beach project stalled

Workers christen a new dredge on Thursday at the Waveland Ave. Pier in Bay St. Louis. The equipment will be used for the county beach nourishment project, once clearance is given by the National Marine Fisheries.

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER

Staff Writer

Progress on the county's five and a half mile beach nourishment project has a standstill this week as contractors wait for the OK once again from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the National Marine Fisheries. The endangered Gulf Sturgeon is the culprit in the holdup.

Only two people stood up to speak out on a proposed zoning change that would add sexually-oriented businesses to a list of permitted uses in C-2 commercial areas in Hancock County. The proposal also called for bars and lounges to be added to the list of permitted uses.

Commissioner Ray Ladner made a motion to deny the change allowing sexually-oriented businesses.

"The proposed amendment is not in the public interest and not necessary," said Ladner.

Ladner's motion carried unanimously. In another motion, commissioners voted to allow the location of bars and lounges in C-2 areas.

The operation of a meth lab on the Rocky Hill-Dedeaux Road landed four suspects in the Hancock County Justice Facility Thursday, according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

Karl reported the following as being arrested and charged with possession of precursors to manufacture crystal methamphetamine:

- Margarita Kennedy, 40, 4210 Rocky Hill-Dedeaux Road. She also has an additional charge of possession of crystal meth and her bond was set at $250,000. In addition a hold has been placed on her by Harrison County, as Kennedy was on probation from a previous conviction.

Stennis Space Center chosen to test Rolls-Royce jet engines

Rolls-Royce announced last week that it had selected the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's John C. Stennis Space Center in Mississippi as the preferred site for relocation of its large engines outdoor test facility from the UK. This is the first time Rolls-Royce has partnered with NASA in this manner.

The facility will be used to test development and prototype engines for performance, noise and other factors. In addition to this Rolls-Royce site, there are only two other such facilities in the world.

"This move highlights our growing commitment to the US," said James M. Guyette, President and CEO, Rolls-Royce North America. "As a global company with nearly 100 years of operations in this country, we are pleased to be able to conduct this important work on these shores."

Rolls-Royce will spend $42 million on construction and facility upgrades as well as utilize existing infrastructure of the Stennis Space Center.

"We are pleased that Rolls-Royce has chosen our region to perform this work," said Mississippi Senator Trent Lott. "The people of Mississippi and Rolls-Royce have enjoyed a close relationship for some time and this relocation only enhances that partnership."

Rolls-Royce also has a Naval Marine foundry in Pascagoula, Mississippi and plans to unveil its expansion later this month that will enhance manufacturing capabilities and improve production efficiencies across a range of marine products.

Work involving the company's two latest, high-thrust Trent engine programs will take place at the Stennis Space Center in 2007, when the Trent 900, which powers the Airbus A380, and the Trent 1000, being developed for the Boeing 787 Dreamliner, both undergo noise measurement testing.

Rolls-Royce briefed employees in 2001 that it planned to close its long-established outdoor testing facility at Hucknall, UK.

Stennis in running for NASA Shared Services Center; final word due in May NASA released last week the possible site locations for the NASA Shared Services Center (NSSC) included in proposals received from offerors.

Sites proposed by offerors as possible locations for the NSSC are: Brook Park, Ohio, Huntsville, Ala., and NASA's Stennis Space Center, Miss.

NASA is creating a Shared Services Center to consolidate a variety of transactional and administrative activities being done at each NASA center in the functional areas of Human Resources, Information Technology, Procurement and Financial Management.

The NSSC consolidates targeted activities into a separate NASA center, which reports to Headquarters. The NSSC is designed to achieve efficient and effective service; improved data quality; standardized processes; economies of scale; leveraged personnel skills and investments.

The NSSC will work collaboratively with agency centers to meet their service needs via a contact center. This will allow NASA organizations to focus more time on their core work and strategic initiatives.

Each NASA center will have a resident Customer Service Liaison to ensure timely and efficient service.

The final selection and award for the NSSC competition is scheduled for May 2005.

Navy budget is insufficient, Rep. Taylor says

WASHINGTON, DC - After reviewing the President's defense budget and hearing testimony from the Secretary of the Navy on Thursday, Congressman Gene Taylor (D-MS) expressed his concern about the number of ships funded under the FY06 defense budget request.

"The Navy's request for reductions in several important shipbuilding programs will leave the United States short of the fleet size needed to meet existing security requirements," Taylor said.

A senior member of the House Armed Services Committee and co-chairman of the newly formed Congressional Shipbuilding Caucus, Taylor articulated his dismay over the declining number of ships in the U.S. Navy fleet. "The shrinking is not just about numbers, but about reduced capabilities that threaten our national security. It weakens our ability to fight the Global War on Terrorism and our industrial capabilities to build ships," said Taylor.

Taylor added, "This is a national problem, if the decline is allowed to continue, we will soon find ourselves reliant on foreign sources for our warships, and that's unacceptable."

Citing Department of Defense (DoD) numbers, Taylor noted that spending for the DoD has increased over $104 billion since FY2001, excluding the over $200 billion in supplemental funding that Congress has provided for the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan.

In contrast, the total number of ships in our Navy budget has decreased since 2001 from 316 to a current level of 288, a reduction of 28 ships during this period. Taylor expressed his worry that the reduction in shipbuilding is a hidden cost of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Taylor continued, "We must provide the tools necessary for our troops to win the next war, while giving our total support to the men and women currently engaged in battle. Sadly, the FY2006 defense budget does not offer that balance."

Following Secretary of the Navy Gordon England's testimony in front of the House Armed Services Committee on Thursday morning, Taylor observed, "This is an extremely dangerous trend in the wake of our increased global commitments. If our Navy is allowed to shrink any further, it is likely that the United States would not have been able to respond to the tsunami disaster in the manner it has."

Our mission: Securing Social Security

In his State of the Union Address, President Bush said if we're going to secure the Social Security system for our children and grandchildren, then we've got to act now before a massive number of baby boomers begin retiring in just three years.

Clearly if we put off addressing this issue, soon only two workers will be paying the benefits for every one Social Security recipient, down from about three right now and sixteen in the 1950s. When young Americans entering the work force today retire, the system will be paying out much more than it is taking in, and it will be on the way to going broke. The President proposes strengthening the program by giving younger workers access to Social Security personal retirement savings accounts, similar to the federal Thrift Savings Plan that federal workers already have.

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

Here's how it would work: If you are 55 or older, you'd see absolutely no change in your Social Security benefits. My 91-year-old mother will continue receiving the same Social Security benefits she has now. But, if you are younger than 55, you'd be offered a chance to participate in personal accounts - savings that can be invested in various funds and grow much faster than anything possible in the current system. Again, this would be voluntary. Those younger workers wishing to stay in the traditional Social Security system could do so.

So, my 35-year-old daughter, if she chooses, could begin contributing to one of these personal accounts and then select from a variety of funds in which to invest and grow her retirement. Though she'd have more control over her money, it is not a privatized system as many people have suggested.

Like the Thrift Savings Plan, these retirement funds still would be managed by the federal government. Because they would be publicly administered, participants could not withdraw the funds at any time or for anything they wish. Rather, it would be a dedicated fund for the sole purpose of cultivating a retirement. Few Members of Congress or their staffs have turned down their version of personal retirement savings, and I suspect most Americans would like the same opportunity.

Now some folks in Washington are saying the Social Security system isn't in trouble, that it's no big deal, that we can just raise taxes to make up the Social Security shortfalls when they start. Well, that sounds like a really poor solution to me, and I suspect to most taxpaying Americans don't want to pay more taxes. Besides, simply raising taxes couldn't solve the problem anyway, because the costs of the current program are expected to grow much faster than the underlying tax base. Giving younger workers access to personal accounts and more control of their own money and retirement are the best ways to help solve Social Security's fes-

Tell our lawmakers to support 'Kendra's Law' legislation in MS

Dear Editor, Assisted outpatient treatment for mentally ill persons is a law in all but eight states and Mississippi is one of those last states that needs the law to be enacted. Right now the State of Mississippi uses the Baker Act to commit people which means some one has to be an immediate danger to themselves or others to be committed.

State Representative J.P. Compretta has submitted a bill to the State Legislature in this 2005 Session. If that bill were made into law, judges could order the mentally ill to seek treatment and stay on their medication.

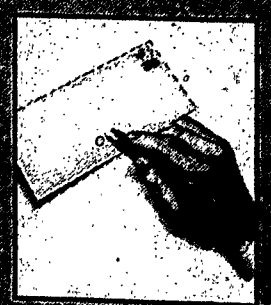

In November 1999, New York enacted Kendra's Law which is named after Kendra Webdale who was thrown in front of a subway train by a man, suffering from schizophrenia and was not taking his medication.

Since Kendra's Law was enacted, among the first 1,409 persons who received assisted outpatient treatment under Kendra's Law in New York, 63% fewer experienced hospitalization, 55% fewer had episodes of homelessness, 75% fewer were arrested, and 69% fewer were incarcerated. Fewer hospital stays, less homelessness, fewer arrests and remaining in the community instead of being in jail or prison do qualify as "making people's lives better." Studies also show significant reductions in the risk of violence and victimization of the mentally ill so "society is safer" as well.

In 1998, people with

mental illnesses killed law enforcement officers at a rate 5.5 times greater than the rest of the population.

In 1998, law enforcement officers were more likely to be killed by a person with a mental illness (13 percent) than by assailants who had a prior arrest for assaulting police or resisting arrest (11 percent).

Since 1998, six law enforcement officers have lost their lives in encounters with assailants with mental illnesses in the Washington, DC metropolitan area alone.

People with severe mental illnesses are killed by police in justifiable homicides at a rate nearly four times greater than the general public.

Please contact your state representative and ask them to support the Assisted Outpatient Treatment bill.

Sincerely,
Rita Blaize-Watson

The March of Dimes needs your help!

The March of Dimes Mississippi Chapter is hosting a Legislative Day at the Capitol on Thursday, Feb. 24, at 1 p.m. Everyone will gather on the Capitol steps.

Medicaid for mothers and babies is in jeopardy. About 53% of all Mississippi births are covered by Medicaid, including children born to the working poor.

These families, many of whom work in small businesses that cannot provide health insurance or provide limited benefits, can face significant cost even with the healthiest pregnancy or child, and for families with a high-risk pregnancy or a child with special health care needs, the financial impact can be devastating.

Without access to health care many pregnant women are more likely to delay seeing a doctor and getting the prenatal care they need. Studies have shown when born without access to medical care, infants are more likely to be sick and less likely to receive needed hospital services than insured infants.

Forty one percent of Mississippi's children are dependent on Medicaid.

Studies have shown that babies born without access to medical care are 22.6% or more than 1 in 5 Mississippi children live in poverty compared to 15.7% nationally.

While the number of children on Medicaid has grown over the past year, the percentage of the Medicaid budget for children's health care has shrunk from about 33% to 25%.

Call your legislator and ask him to join us at the press conference in support of funding Medicaid for mothers and children. If you are unable to attend - Please call your legislator and ask him/her to protect Medicaid and Access to Care.

Additionally, coupled with private accounts, we can protect the system even more by making sure benefits are reconciled with the cost of living. In doing this we can provide a more secure Social Security benefit. When he was in the White House, President Clinton and I often discussed the fairness of obtaining a more accurate cost-of-living formula as a means of alleviating many of Social Security's pressures.

Now, I don't take Social Security reform lightly. In fact, I've worked to stop major Social Security changes before, back in the 1980s, but times have changed. People are living longer, and so-called "Baby Boomers" aren't babies anymore; they're about to be retirees. The challenges facing Social Security today are more formidable than anything its planners envisioned back in the 1930s. We've got to have a Social Security system that will be here in the 2030s and beyond.

Like many of your parents and grandparents, my elderly mother today can not live on her meager Social Security income. She worked until she was 75, for a small return. It wasn't fair. But, if we fix the system now by implementing personal savings accounts and implementing accurate cost-of-living projections, our children and grandchildren can have a respectable Social Security benefit that is truly beneficial - one that can actually sustain a good retirement.

Guilty

more severe ruling.

"I'm not too happy with it, but it could have been worse," she said. "If (the jury) thought it was an accident, they wouldn't have given him manslaughter."

Chris Schmidt, assistant district attorney and lead prosecutor, echoed Perret's disappointment.

"I always believed the facts would support a capital murder conviction," he said. "We disagree with the jury's verdict, but respect it because that is the process."

Boswell's attorney, Thomas Berry, said there was more to the story than what the jury had seen.

Berry said that a toxicology report from the state crime lab in Jackson showed that a urine sample from Alexis tested positive for cocaine.

Berry attempted to enter the report into evidence on Thursday, and subpoena the forensic scientist who had issued it. This motion was rejected by Judge Jerry O. Terry, as the defense had been in possession of the report since 2003 and had not acted on it until the trial was under way.

Alexis suffered her fatal injuries after her aunt,

Scarlet Morlier, had left her in Boswell's charge when she went to buy cigarettes with two other people, Paul Mutter and Matt Fayard. Upon returning to Boswell's residence, they noticed police cars and emergency vehicles.

According to testimony from Officer Christine Johnson of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, the three initially attempted to flee the scene. Mutter testified earlier that Morlier became panicked when she saw the police cars, and wanted to leave.

Berry said he did not know how Alexis came into contact with the cocaine. He did, however, question Morlier's actions in light of this report.

"Scarlet Morlier comes back. She knows the baby was injured. How would she know that? Why did she flee? There are more who are guilty."

Testimony from Paul McGarry, the coroner who performed the autopsy on Alexis, indicated that her injuries could not have been caused by the circumstances described by Boswell. Boswell said Alexis sustained her injuries, which included a skull fracture, a torn spleen and broken ribs, by falling from his bed in the midst of a seizure.

The sentencing phase of the trial will take place on Tuesday.

We lost you just two years ago,
A sorrow that still sings
Of all the tears and emptiness
The loss of loved ones brings.

From the day we lost you
Life would never be the same,
And so each year
when it comes round
Our hearts are filled with pain.

Our sadness comes from missing you,
And missing you from love,
And love from all the love in you
That we became part of.

Your love is still alive in us,
We feel it ever new;
Our mourning's filled
with happiness
By memories of you.

The 39th annual Hancock Bank Gulf Coast Economic Symposium was held Wednesday at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum Convention Center. Keynote speakers included Dr. Edmond J. Selfried, professor of Economics and business at Lafayette College in Eaton, PA; Roger Dow, president and CEO of the Travel Industry Association of America; and Hancock Bank president and CEO George A. Rolls-Royce to test new jet engines at Stennis BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (AP) — Airplane engine maker Rolls-Royce said Tuesday it had selected a site in Mississippi to replace its outdoor engine-testing facility in central England.

Rolls-Royce PLC announced in 2001 that it planned to close the facility in Hucknall, 120 miles north of London, once it found a new location. The firm said Tuesday it had chosen NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center near Bay St. Louis, its first partnership deal with the space agency.

"This move highlights our growing commitment to the U.S.," James M. Guyette, president and CEO, Rolls-Royce North America, said in a statement. "As a global company with nearly 100 years of operations in this country, we are pleased to be able to conduct this important work on these shores."

Rolls-Royce said it would spend $42 million upgrading facilities at the NASA site. The facility is due to carry out tests on Rolls-Royce engines for two new jets, the Airbus A380 super-jumbo and the Boeing 787 Dreamliner.

Work involving the company's two latest, high-thrust Trent engine programs will take place at Stennis in 2007 when the Trent 900, which powers the Airbus A380, and the Trent 1000, being developed for the Boeing 787 Dreamliner, both undergo noise measurement testing.

The company said 30

Hucknall employees had been offered redeployment or accepted severance packages. The British site will continue to produce combustion system components.

Stennis will be used to test development and prototype engines for performance, noise and other factors.

"We are pleased that Rolls-Royce has chosen our region to perform this work," U.S. Sen. Trent Lott, R-Miss., said in a statement. "The people of Mississippi and Rolls-Royce have enjoyed a close relationship for some time and this relocation only enhances that partnership."

Rolls-Royce also has a Naval Marine foundry in Pascagoula and plans to unveil its expansion later this month that will enhance manufacturing capabilities and improve production efficiencies across a range of marine products.

Rolls-Royce is also among seven suppliers to Northrop Grumman Ship Systems, which operates shipyards in Pascagoula, Gulfport and New Orleans.

Rolls-Royce employs about 35,000 people, of which about 8,000 are in North America.

Ross-Royce has annual sales of nearly $6 billion.

New officers named at Mississippi Power

Kimberly D. Flowers has been named as Mississippi Power's new vice president and senior production officer of power generation and Moses Feagin as comptroller.

Flowers was also named senior production officer at Southern Company Generation by Southern Company Services board of directors. She will replace Gene Ussery, who is moving to Georgia Power as vice president of distribution. Flowers currently serves as manager of Georgia Power's Plant Bowen, one of the largest first women to serve as a power plants plant manager in Southern Company's generating system. Company Generation, currently serves as manager at Georgia Power's Plant Bowen.

Feagin is currently the generation accounting services manager for Southern Company Generation and Southern Power Company. A native of Montgomery, Alabama, Feagin earned a degree in accounting from the University of Alabama.

Lady Tigers, Lady Hawks & St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws all claim basketball titles

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Division 8-4A and Region 5-5A basketball tournaments ended on Friday night with three area teams claiming titles. The Bay High Lady Tigers continued their dominance of Class 4A with a 46-40 win over the Lady Warriors of D'Iberville. The Hancock Lady Hawks defeated Picayune for the Region 5-5A title and St. Stanislaus held off a pesky bunch of Bay High Tigers to claim the Division 8-4A boys title.

In championship game action, the Lady Tigers opened up a 12-8 advantage over D'Iberville in the first period on four three-pointers. Sara Gilmore nailed consecutive treys to start the game while Tamara Reed and Crystal Skretching added one each. The Lady Tigers (28-1) opened up their lead to 23-14 by halftime over D'Iberville. In the second half, the Lady Tigers got up by as much as 16 points with 5:01 left following Destiny Porter's bucket to make the score 40-24. However, D'Iberville was persistent in their attack and went on a 12-3 run to cut the score to 46-39 with :40 left.

Bay High head coach Debbie Triplett stated, "We will take the ugly wins, no matter what. Give credit to D'Iberville, they played very hard defensively and slowed the tempo down on offense. That took us out of some of the things we do. When a team plays D'Iberville, every offensive possession is a treasure."

Kendra Reed led Bay High with 18 points while

Amber Fields led D'Iberville with 16 points. Sara Gilmore, Destiny Porter, Tamara Reed, Kendra Reed and Crystal Skretching were all named to the All-Division 8-4A team. Kendra Reed was named the Most Valuable Player of Division 8-4A while Skretching grabbed the Best Defensive Player, Debbie Triplett was honored with the Coach of the Year Award.

Bay High defeated Vancleave 77-49 to advance to the championship game on Thursday, February 16th. In that game, Kendra Reed had 22 points and 10 rebounds followed by Sara Gilmore with 18 points and 5 rebounds.

Bay High will host Laurel, the #4 seed from Division 7-4A, on Monday at 7 p.m. at the Wilmer Seymour Gymnasium in the first round of the South State playoffs.

The Lady Hawks (24-8) claimed a 53-41 victory over the Lady Maroon Tide of Picayune in picayune on Friday evening for the Region 5-5A title.

Erica Moran led the charge for the Lady Hawks scoring 15 points and pulling down 8 rebounds before she left the court with five fouls.

The mismatch down low for Picayune proved to be too much for the Lady Tide to overcome as they never led in the contest. Christine Singleton added 14 points for Hancock in the winning effort.

Picayune was paced by Dedra Magee and Tori Jones with 12 points each.

Hancock advanced to the championship game when they defeated Hattiesburg 51-33 on Tuesday evening. Erica Moran led the way with 24 points followed by Christine Singleton with 12 points.

Hancock will host the first round of South State action in Kiln on Monday at 7 p.m.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (26-5) claimed the Division 8-4A title on their own floor with a thrilling 52-40 win over cross-town rival Bay High (15-17).

The Rocks jumped to a 17-7 lead in the first period as they opened the game with a 7-2 run. At halftime, the Rocks maintained their lead with a 24-16 advantage.

SSC opened the third period with a furious offensive attack as they went on a 11-0 run to make the score 35-16 with 4:36 left. During the run, Ludovic Dovonu added six points for SSC.

George Easley answered for Bay High to stop the bleeding with consecutive three-pointers that cut the lead to 35-22. The third period ended with SSC enjoying a 37-27 lead.

In the fourth period, the most that SSC got up on Bay High was 12. Lorenzo Lewis sank consecutive three-pointers with 2:17 left in the game to make the score 45-40 but SSC sank 5-of-6 free throws to seal the win down the stretch.

SSC head coach Jay Ladner commented, "I thought we came out ready to play and we played hard. We were intense on defense and on the boards which I thought was the key to the game. Give credit to Bay High, they never let up. This was a great game for both teams and a great game for the community. The atmosphere was tremendous."

SSC was led by Ludovic Dovonu with 17 points and 7 rebounds followed by Mike Rice with 10 points and 7 rebounds and Ramsey Shawa's 10 points.

Bay High head coach Alan Lumpkin stated, "SSC got out early on us. Playing the late game on Thursday and it being a very emotional game with Pass High was a factor in our performance tonight. But we kept fighting to match SSC's intensity. The opportunity to host the first round at home is a big advantage. We are extremely happy to be able to host and continue playing. I was proud of the intensity we showed tonight."

The Our Lady Academy Crescents ended their basketball season on Tuesday night with a 74-40 loss to #1-seeded West Marion. Whitney Lyons scored 20 points for the Crescents.

Waveland gets fastpitch softball league for girls

The city of Waveland will now have a fastpitch softball league. The United States Fastpitch Association is a girls softball league that will begin this ball season.

Both leagues will share the ball complex on Central Ave. Many parents who have both a son and a daughter are happy to see a complex where they both can play and still be involved in two separate leagues. The USFA league accepts girls ages 4-18.

All girls are invited for registration. The girls league is strictly a recreational league. This league is not about who won the most games or the ever popular all-star pick. There will be no all-stars; any girl who wishes to go on to tournament games after the regular season will be given the chance to do so.

USFA league has no boundaries. This means that girls from any area may join the league. The league is run by the board and the parents. Any and all suggestions will be taken into consideration. USFA rules are flexible, rules can be changed to better accommodate the area in which each individual league is in.

The league will hold registration February 26 and March 5, from 9 a.m. until 12 p.m. at the Waveland ball field on Central Ave. and the Scott Domboski soccer field in Bay St. Louis.

There will be night registration Feb. 24 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the Waveland field only. Please bring a copy of your child's birth certificate.

Registration for t-ball is $10 all others $35 and each additional $30. Raffle tickets will be handed out for help with registration money.

Good season on the horizon for baseball

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

As winter moves into spring and the hardwood season comes to a close, the boys of summer will soon hit the diamond. America's pastime, baseball, came into full swing on Saturday.

This year brings great expectation for the area high school teams. The Tigers, Hawks, Pirates and Rocks are all hoping for big things in 2005.

The Bay High Tigers return seven letter winners from last season's squad that ended with a 13-14 overall mark and 6-6 in the division.

Those returning that head coach Mike Weems will be counting on for leadership are C Brad Ladner, P/OF Cory Jordan, P/3B Kyle Sick, P/OF David Buckley, P/1B Trevor Adam, 2B Chris Billingsley, and P/SS Corbin Blaize.

The newcomers to the Tigers are P/OF Zach Thompson, OF Steven Thebeau, 3B Brennan Adam, OF Ricky Manieri, C Blaine Lee, P/1B Josh Garcia, OF Kevin Macuick, and C Jeremy Bell.

Weems likes to keep his Tigers like a family unit and in keeping with that notion, he is assisted by his younger sibling Luke Weems. Both coaches are also graduates of Bay High.

The Hancock Hawks return nine letter winners from 2004 and of the nine returning seven are underclassmen. However, head coach Andy Perniciaro likes the balance that he sees in his young squad.

The top returning Hawks are SS/P Brad McGlade, SS/P Robert Pullens, C Justin Ladner, CF Chance Whitfield, LF Nick Jacobo, 1B Micah Mitchell, RF Shaun Ladner, 3B Joey

Madere, and 2B Blaine Lafontaine.

The top new faces to the Hawk squad are OF/P Kade Ladner and OF Khrys Bankston.

In 2004 the Hawks ended the season with a record of 4-16 overall and 1-5 in the division. Tony Johnson, Mike Gaudin and Gary Sims will assist Perniciaro in the dugout.

The Pirates of Pass Christian ended 2004 with a record of 14-16 overall and a 3-9 record in the division under head coach Tim Holland.

Pass Christian returns

six top letter winners in C Derek Palmer, P/1B Ryan Davis, P/SS Brett Sanders, P/SS Ben Malley, 3B Chris Dahl and OF Frederick Wiley.

Some top new faces for the Pirates in 2005 are 2B John Ladner, LF/P Josh Cuevas, P/OF Anthony Lemarca and P/OF Jeremy Miller.

Holland will be assisted by Wesley Strickland and Woody Pringle.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws return an eager bunch from 2004 that ended with a record of 12-16 overall and 5-7 in the division.

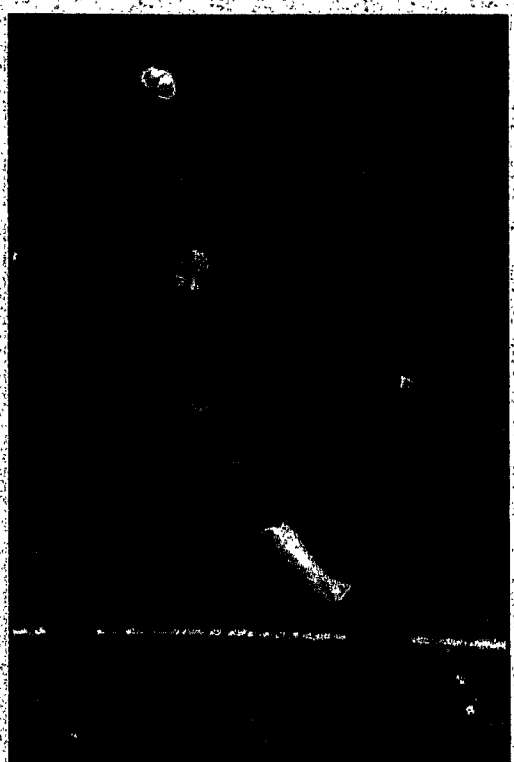

SSC alum Mark Logan returns to lead the Rocks assisted by Bay High alum Stace McRaney.

The Rocks bring back nine letter winners in C Lee Klein, 2B Brooks Breland, OF Brennan Thomas, 3B Lance Cuevas, SS/P Tyler Henry, 1B Brett Ladner, OF Dylan Drake, C/1B/DH Stephen Keel and SS/OF/P Chase Kleinpeter.

Some new prospects for the Rocks in 2005 are 1B Caleb McQueen, 3B/2B Brian Whitman, and OF Ryan Stechmann.

Pearl River's Brittany Johnson unleashes a pitch in the Lady Wildcats' softball season-opener against East Mississippi Thursday in Poplarville. Johnson, a freshman from Bay High, relieved starter Whitney Vamos in the first game and went the distance in the nightcap to pick up both wins in PRCC's sweep over EMCC 5-2 and 6-3. Brittany Johnson picks up twin wins at PRCC

Pearl River Community College's Lady Wildcats opened their 2005 MACJC softball schedule in grand style Thursday, sweeping East Mississippi 5-2 and 6-3 in Lady Wildcat Stadium.

In the first game of the twin bill, the Lady Lions went up 1-0 in the top of the first when Lady Wildcat starter Whitney Vamos of Poplarville High walked back-to-back batters to set the stage for an RBI single by Allison Morgan. Vamos also struck out two in the opening frame.

After blanking the bottom of the inning, Vamos pitched herself out of a jam in the top of the second after loading the bases with three straight walks. The Lady Wildcats tied it up in the bottom of the second Nikki Breland of Poplarville High led off with a single, then Amber Gray of Meridian reached via an error. An out and a strikeout later, Kellie Seal of Picayune High doubled in Breland.

Freshman Brittany Johnson of Bay High relieved Vamos in the third and gave up an unearned run off an error to put East Miss up 2-1, but PRCC tied it up in the bottom of the frame when Maghan James of Oak Grove led off with a single, then Erin Brown of Prairieville, La., walked to set the stage for an RBI single by Kelly Williams of West Marion.

After holding EMCC scoreless in the top of the fourth, PRCC iced the win in the bottom of the inning when Allison Speights of West Marion, Seal, and Lacey Grimes of Hancock County led off with singles; then James smashed an RBI sacrifice to centerfield. Brown's ensuing sacrifice made it 4-2, then Williams' double made it 5-2.

Johnson gave up a double and a single over the next three innings to pick up her first win of her collegiate career. Vamos finished her two-inning stint with two strikeouts and five walks, while Johnson struck out two and walked one.

Pearl River finished the game with 11 hits, led by Williams' double and two singles, while Seal doubled and singled. James had two singles, while Nikki Breland, Grimes, Speights, and Gray all singled.

In the nightcap, Pearl River trailed for most of the game before blowing it open with five runs in the bottom of the sixth to take the 6-3 victory.

Beach -- stalled

Pullman said that he understands the project will go forward on March 1, as the permit indicates.

"Unless someone comes out and tells us to stop, we will go forward," Pullman said. "They (the Corps) gave us a permit and we put out a contract in good faith and we plan to go forward on March 1."

The county is liable for the cost of the contract whether the job goes forward or not, Pullman said, but if there is a problem someone will be coming forward with some compensation, he said, though he failed to elaborate on who that would be.

Jen Lornez, owner of Great Southern Dredging, was unaware of the problem on Thursday. He said he was under the impression that the project had been given the go ahead to get underway February 1.

The company began mobilizing about two weeks ago though no dredging has taken place yet. Lornez said he understood that he had all of February, March and April to get started and complete the job.

The problem came about when the project did not get started as planned last summer, said Coastal Environmental Team Leader for the Corps Dr. Susan Rees. The Sturgeon is already in its spawning grounds in local rivers during the summer, said National Marine Fisheries Biologist Dr. Stephanie Bolden. With the warm weather this year there was a concern that Sturgeon could be migrating early, said Rees. Because of the new timing of the project, a new biological assessment must be completed.

The Corps has completed their assessment, and issued a decision earlier this week, said Rees. The Sturgeon could migrate around the dredge if present, and would not be adversely affected. The Corps faxed a letter to the National Marine Fisheries on Thursday asking for their concurrence, Rees said.

Bolden said Friday that she had not yet seen a letter confirming a formal decision from the Corps.

"These are Federal mandates and the paper work must be complete," said Bolden, "and a whole new analysis must be completed. The time frame is short and we have a limited staff, but this project has a high priority."

Legally an informal consultation must be completed in 30 days. A formal consultation, such as is required for the re-nourishment project must be complete in 145 days. Bolden gave her assurance that the consultation would be completed in as short a time as possible.

The Corps can give their OK for the project to begin, said Bolden, but without the completed assessment, the contractor would not be insured if a Sturgeon is taken, or killed.

residence as it was passed, Karl said.

"The motorist reported seeing three subjects fleeing into the woods from the back of the residence. Deputies Tim Campbell, Push Phillips and David Dear, as they responded to the area, notified Narcotic Division's assistant director Lt. Clifton (Bubba) Malley of the call," Karl reported.

Karl continued, "The reason Malley was notified is because we have had the area under surveillance for many months because of alleged drug activity and recently the 4210 Rocky Hill-Dedeaux Road residence had a drive by shooting which is under investigation by sheriff's investigators too."

"Upon arrival officers went into the woods where the three subjects had been seen fleeing by the motorist from the back of the house and about 25 to 30 yards or so, found empty precursors. A search warrant was secured to search the property. During the execution of the search warrant, in a shed other precursor materials were found too," Karl allowed.

"As a matter of fact, when agent Abe Long opened the door of the shed, as he inhaled a strong chemical led to him having to be checked by American Medical Response for headaches and dizziness. We feel the suspects had just recently completed a cook and during our search crystal meth was found in the possession of Kennedy," Karl reported.

A cleanup team was called to the area for the removal of the precursor items, in which they were placed in large white plastic containers and labeled to be properly destroyed.

Responding to the meth lab included Major Karl, Lt. Malley, Agent Abe Long, Agent Chris Russell.

A sign was posted on the shed by agents where the suspected meth lab had been located read:

"WARNING - A clandestine laboratory for the manufacture of illegal drugs and/or hazardous chemicals was seized at this location. Known hazardous chemicals have been disposed of pursuant to law."

However, there still may be hazardous substances or waste products on this property, either in buildings or in the ground itself. Please exercise caution while on these premises. WARNING.

"Meth labs are very dangerous and many toxic chemicals are used in the production of crystal meth. Anyone suspecting a meth lab operation in their area should call the Narcotics Division at 467-1496, or the sheriff's office at 228-467-5101, or 601-798-8555 (Picayune exchange), Sheriff Garber said.

Garber added, "All information received will be kept confidential."

Both Garber and Karl warns residents not to handle or touch anything which may seem out of the ordinary and to call the sheriff's office immediately, day or night.

"If you smell a strong odor in your area, it could be a meth lab in operation. If you see a pile of trash with items such as fire extinguisher, starter fluid containers, red devil lye cans, metal propane cylinders, fire extinguisher cylinders, plastic tubing, plastic, or metal buckets discarded, etc., they could have been used in a meth lab," Karl said.

Property owners in the rural areas too, need to check deserted sheds, barns, isolated wooded areas, etc., and if they recognize anything unusual, they need to call our office, Garber urges citizens.

"The crystal meth case is still under investigation by the Hancock County Narcotic Divisions Agents, while the drive by shooting is being investigated by the Criminal Investigation department," Sheriff Barber reported.

Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee to meet

The HCDEC will hold their monthly meeting on Monday, Feb. 21st at 6:30 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis library. Anyone wanting to make a difference in their community is encouraged to attend. Meetings are held on the third Monday of each month.

For more information, contact Janice Woodward at 467-2124.

Zoning

lawsuits on behalf of Magnolia 1, Inc. and Hancock Entertainment, LLC, accused the county of trying to change the rules after the fact. The two businesses filed for Special Exception permits to build strip clubs along two business corridors last spring.

In December, county supervisors passed an ordinance to regulate sexually-oriented businesses in the county. When the applications were filed, the county had no regulations governing these types of businesses.

"Equal justice under the law is my interest," said Lirot. "Everyone should be treated fairly under the set of rules in place when the ball begins to roll. You are changing the rules in the middle of the game."

Lirot questioned the Planning and Zoning Board's motives in introducing new zoning legislation. Board attorney John Scaffidi said that if there were no commercially zoned areas designated for sexually-oriented businesses then technically the businesses could be allowed in areas other than those commercially zoned.

Lirot told the board that the businesses proposed by his clients are protected by the first amendment in the same way that a church is protected. Performances are protected, Lirot said.

Melanie Stewart of Bay St. Louis said the recently approved ordinance and proposed zoning changes are not conservative enough. County zoning lumps all business into two commercial zones and could create a "red light" district if more restrictions are not in place, she said. The ordinance regulating sexually-oriented businesses does not address all the issues such as noise, or size and lighting of signs, Stewart added.

In other business: • Commissioners tabled a request by Chris Vosbein to allow three 50 foot lots be utilized as legal building sites. The lots are on Bayou LaCrosse. All are in the range of 200 feet deep or more.

• Commissioners denied a request by Clarence R. Lick Jr. to build a large storage building on property adjoining his residence in Bay Side Park. The storage building was too large said commissioners.

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza
La Violette

laviolette@mail.dave-inc.com
www.annabellepublishing.com

We have a widowed neighbor who did a very unusual thing last year. She had some men lay concrete that extended her front porch out from its original five-foot width to eight feet. Next she bought some outside furniture and put it on the extended porch.

She then planted a flowerbed to line the edge of the porch. She placed tools nearby so that during the day when she was free of her other household chores, she could weed her garden or sit on the furniture. Finally on a bright spring day she came out and sat on the furniture placed tastefully about on her wide new porch and she waited.

Gradually, people going by began to stop and talk and sometimes they would come up and sit and stay longer. After a bit, this became quite common. Stella and I were among her visitors. The spring days and then summer and later fall gradually went by. Then came winter and she went inside. Now in this New Year and we have a January thaw in the 70s. On one of our recent warm days, I saw her sitting on her porch, sunning herself. It would seem that for her, the year has officially begun.

Think about it! What a fantastic original idea! Imagine sitting on the front porch of your house!

Or is it so original. People used to do that as part of their everyday lives in "the old days." An evening walk then would take a while even if you only went up the street. It was a stop-and-go walk that proceeded at a wonderfully slow pace. As a result of those evening promenades and their casual stops, neighbors grew closer to one another forming a bonding, a sort of extended family.

But today we have air conditioning and console-size television. Today, people are inside their houses. Not just inside their houses, they are in the back of their

THE SEA COAST ECHO

It is estimated that more than a million children will be orphaned in South Africa over the next five years as their parents die from AIDS. As the HIV virus spreads quickly through mostly black African populations the government struggles to cope with the devastation. Many individuals have responded to the call for help including a local nurse and massage therapist.

A project called, Yobo Gogo, which means Yes, Grandmother was created to honor all of the grandmothers that are now raising their grandchildren and other children as their parents die of AIDS.

Mary Frost, a registered nurse from Waveland, will be going on her second volunteer service trip to continue the work that was begun last spring.

This year a team of four will travel to several sites in South Africa and Arman Codianne, a massage therapist also from Waveland, will be joining Frost and two other nurses from Missouri and Kansas.

They will be teaching several classes in Healing Touch therapy to health care professionals and orphan caregivers, offering outreach clinics and assisting in establishing a wellness clinic.

Their first stop will be Johannesburg Soweto area where they will join with Rev. Thandi Nhlengetwa, a Unity minister, who has begun establishing care with an SOS Children's Village and an informal settlement of refugees from Lesotho, a small adjacent country. In the settlement there is an 80% HIV infection rate and many dying weekly.

Last year the women walked through the settlement and gave out donated food and medicine.

"I was deeply touched by the friendliness and courage of these people that deal with hunger, illness and dying as a part of everyday life," says Frost.

The next stop on the mission trip will be in Cape Town on the southern coast where the group will team with Ralph Shepard, director of Novalis Institute. Novalis, a non profit organization, has a four fold mission: teacher upliftment through Ubuntu College programs, grade school food gardens project, orphan care project and Ubuntu

U S Department of Agriculture Conservation Security Program seeking local applicants

The Conservation Security Program is a stewardship program for farmers and ranchers that are implementing conservation on their land. CSP is a voluntary program based on conservation accomplishments that recognizes the contributions of the best land stewards and encourages them to do more.

This is a competitive program. The producers will compete nationally against other producers. Documentation of conservation activities, such as conservation plans and records for pest management and nutrient management, will be required to support the applications.

To apply for the Conservation Security Program, a producer will access the CSP self-assessment workbook either on grams/csp)) or by getting a book from the local NRCS office. Using the workbook, producers will determine whether they meet the basic eligibility requirements. Also, the producer will document their stewardship work, including conservation practices installed on the land.

Only producers who have a majority of the land in the targeted watershed (Coastal Watershed) will be eligible. Also, the land must be in compliance with highly erodible and wetland compliance provisions, have an active interest in the operation, and have control of the land for the life of the contract.

For further information, you may contact the Hancock Soil and Water Conservation office @ 228-255-3225 Charles Truax, Soil Conservationist.

Rotary Celebrates 100th Anniversary

One hundred years ago on the evening of February 23, 1905, four businessmen in Chicago met for the first meeting of a group which would become the great American institution we know today as Rotary International. Led by a visionary attorney named Paul Harris, this group soon found opportunities to promote ethics, honesty, and fairness in the business community and to serve the greater good.

During the years that followed, Rotary Clubs were formed in all 50 states and grew into a movement that now exists in 166 nations around the world. There are presently more than 31,000 Rotary Clubs worldwide with more than 1.2 million members. Here in Mississippi, there are 109 Rotary clubs, with approximately 6,200 members. We are especially proud of the fact that the President of Rotary International for 2005 is Glenn Estess, a native Mississippian now living in Birmingham, Alabama.

Rotarians are your neighbors and co-workers. They meet regularly for fellowship and service, and they may be found on the front lines responding to human need. Whether it's working to eradicate polio in the remote corners of the world, helping build homes for the homeless, or cleaning up neighborhood parks, Rotarians are making a difference every day.

February 23 has been designated by the Mississippi Legislature and Governor Haley Barbour as Rotary Day in Mississippi. We invite all Mississippians to join with us as we celebrate 100 years of service and eagerly anticipate the next century!

Catch the Wave Gallery opening

The Arts, Hancock County Mississippi has announced that the Wave Gallery, located in Pearl River Community College's Hancock Center, will soon be hosting the second membership show.

This exhibit will feature varied works by members of The Arts, and will open with a reception on Sunday, March 6 from 2-5pm at the Hancock Center, which is located in the old Wal Mart building on Highway 90 in Waveland. The public is invited to attend the reception and view the new work.

The Wave Gallery is the result of a partnership formed between the Arts and Pearl River Community College in the fall of 2004. A spacious corridor in the Hancock Center has been transformed into a gallery space, complete with a professional, museum quality hanging system.

The gallery will not only be used to showcase visual arts; poetry and literary readings, performances and other events are planned as well.

Several different shows are scheduled for 2005, most of which will stay in place for two month periods. The second membership show will stay in place through March, while April and May will feature an exhibit called "Works on Paper." In June and July, a "conceptual" show is planned, the subject of which has yet to be announced. For the shows scheduled in August-September as well as in October-November, "proposal shows" by individual members of groups of members will be featured. December will see a second "conceptual" exhibit which will feature a holiday theme.

The Wave Gallery is the latest in a series of partnerships between The Arts and other community organizations. Formed in 2002 as an umbrella organization to promote, enhance and support all of the arts in Hancock County, The Arts is endorsed by the City of Bay St. Louis, the City of Waveland, and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors. For more information on The Arts and the upcoming reception at the Wave Gallery, visit the website at www.hancock-art.com, or call 228.467.1007.

THE SEA COAST ECHO
BUSINESS WHOSE COURAGE AND GRACE TO DAY AND FORSEVERITY

Enjoy Yourself

All of us should eat and drink, and enjoy what we have worked for; it is God's gift. This nice little verse is from Ecclesiastes 3:13, and when I read it, I immediately thought of its appropriateness and how it relates to almost everyone in our daily struggles to try and balance our work and play. Simple as it is, this verse just struck me right and made me feel good, because it was a scriptural reminder that we are all supposed to enjoy the fruits of our labor. I hope we can all take this to heart. If we feel guilt or some other negative emotion regarding what we have worked so hard to achieve, then our accomplishments may not be as enjoyable, nor is this what God wants for us. God wants us to be physically and mentally sound, and balancing our time between work and recreation is necessary to achieve this. This is important not only for us, but for our relationship with our loved ones. So, within reason and with some degree of discretion, we should try to enjoy the blessings that our Lord gives to each of us, and we should prayerfully thank Him for the enjoyment of life.

... God, who generously gives us everything for our enjoyment.

Another milestone in my life

You're going to help make a saint out of Henriette Delille?" a friend asked.

"No indeed! People do not make saints. Only God makes saints. All people do is set up criteria which indicate heroic virtue in the life of a human being. I am but a small part of a lengthy process which tries to make an airtight case that these criteria have been met."

So, realizing that this was a spectacular first in my life, I repaired to the tribunal of the Archdiocese of New Orleans to bear witness about what I knew of the life, teachings and activities of Henriette Delille, co-foundress of the Sisters of the Holy Family.

Seated across from a tribunal priest with his secretary at my side, I put my hand on a Bible and swore to tell the truth in my deposition on the life of Henriette Delille. I have given many kinds of testimony in my life, but this was the first time the testimony was part of the process of beatification for someone who had lived a very holy life.

The whole atmosphere in the room was solemn, almost prohibitively so. It smacked clearly of eternal Rome with all its ancient religious history, its centuries-old traditions, its meticulous, canonical-style methodology and procedural line of questioning.

As I responded deliberately and completely to each question, I had the overwhelming feeling of being intimately involved in an important segment of history impacting the local and national black community, as well as the Catholic Church at large. So, why was I asked to be one of those who give a deposition on the life of Henriette Delille? It is called being in the right place at the right time. I just happen to be the pastor of St. Augustine Catholic Church where Henriette Delille launched her religious career.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Born an octaroon in the famous Old Quarter of an illegitimate, dysfunctional union, Henriette attended the Cathedral of St. Louis King of France until she was 30 years old. At that time, she and her close friend Juliette Gaudin became members of St. Augustine Church which was dedicated on October 9, 1842.

From their early teens, the two of them had been heavily engaged in social and religious work among free people of color and slaves, particularly young girls, the orphaned, the sick, the elderly, the destitute and those in need of education.

To this end, they attempted to perpetuate their work by founding the congregation of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary on November 21, 1836. However, since they made only private vows, the congregation did not have an official standing in the Church.

Under the advice of Jeanne Marie Aliquot, the counsel of Father Etienne Rousselon, and the pastoral guidance of Bishop Antoine Blanc, Henriette and Juliette knelt before the altar in the newly dedicated St. Augustine Church, and committed themselves to live and work in common for the physical, social and spiritual well-being of the people of color.

In effect, this commitment marked the founding of the Sisters of the Holy Family on that historic November 21, 1842.

Ten years later, together with Josephine Charles, they made their first vows. After drifting back and forth by fits and starts, the congregation began to attract young women inspired to pursue its special apostolate to the colored.

This singular event in the history of the Church is commemorated by a bronze plaque sunken into the marble step at the Communion rail of St. Augustine Church. Most of the Holy Family Sisters in New Orleans were present for its unveiling on November 18, 2001, after which they second-lined out to St. Louis Cemetery No. 2.

As a unique emblem of their apostolate, the nuns founded schools for colored girls all around southern Louisiana in particular, as well as Texas, California and even Honduras. Strict discipline and serious education were the order of the day in each of their schools.

Relatively little of this occurred within the 20-year span of the founding and under the watch of Henriette Delille who died at the very premature age of 50. However, she had set the stage, and the schools and other activities would explode after her death.

Down through the years, the Sisters of the Holy Family have borne and continue to bear witness to the faith, vision and relentless apostolic zeal of their foundress. Alumnae from their schools represent the whole nation in considerable numbers, while these same alumnae and numerous friends have established strong regional chapters far and wide.

Among numerous other questions, the tribunal inquisitor wanted to know what the beatification and eventual canonization of Henriette Delille might mean for the black community. This question I answered at the social level and at the spiritual level.

At the social level, it is quite analogous to the entry of Jackie Robinson into Major League Baseball in 1947. Black baseball enthusiasts, blacks who knew nothing about baseball, even blacks who had no use for baseball were amazed, overjoyed, proud and simply enthralled by the historic event.

It was a big morale booster for everyone.

Similarly, religious blacks, non-churchgoing blacks, even blacks who might qualify as agnostics are thunderstruck in a most positive way when they discover that three of the Roman Catholic popes were North African; that is, of course, black. This fact was little known until recently, because formerly no one cared what a pope's ethnic group was.

Thus, of no concern to the early Christians, Pope St. Victor I (189-198) slid in under the radar. So did Pope St. Melchades, sometimes spelled Miltiades (311-314), and Pope St. Gelasius I (492-496). Would that ethnic origin meant nothing today!

Yes, just as any accomplishments of blacks at the highest level in any profession are meaningful to blacks at every level, the official ranking of another black person with those women and men in the extremely rarefied atmosphere of sainthood would be a quantum boost to all blacks.

Other minorities and the universal Church rejoice as well.

So, right on, Henriette! More power and grace to you, to Juliette Gaudin, to all your spiritual daughters, the Sisters of the Holy Family, and to all believers in our great God.

Scripture Says...
By Ed Young

God Bless America!

Is it not ironic that there is much trouble in the Middle East today? For hundreds of years the Christian religion was not allowed to be presented. No one could come into that region with another religious belief, the doors were shut.

Is this the timing of God, that now the doors are beginning to open for the Gospel of Christ to be told?

Democracy has freedom of religion, because of this there has been much resistance. Unfortunately, men and women have laid down their lives for freedom to filtrate in that region.

Through the eyes of God, the big picture is not about oil or land, but souls.

The Bible says, For God so loved the world, that he gave his only

Note: Next week, the fate of Israel.

If I were the Devil...

BY PERRY GIBSON

Have you ever thought about what disguise you would use if you were the devil, turned loose on the world, with all power of deception, in order to entice souls into the pits of hell? Well, I have.

I would assume a human form, but I would not be a scary-looking creature, some vile, profane, drugged or drunken character. Nor would I be seen in well-known places of sin or associate with those whose reputation was bad.

No, I would associate with the people who leaned toward God, for here are the people that I am in danger of losing. These people are my prospects for fuel to keep the fires of hell burning. This is the group of people I would want to influence, so I would assume the physical character of a handsome and rugged person, a type that is admired by both men and women.

I would choose a prestigious university to name as my alma mater. I would also choose a prestigious profession, one that would bring me into contact with many people each day.

I might be a doctor, a teacher, a public relations expert, possibly even a preacher. Yes, I would be a good conversationalist.

If I were the devil, I would go to church. I would not go too often, but enough to be identified with that institution. Then, when I followed my worldly pleasures on Sunday, people would say, "Look at him with his fine reputation. He does that, so it must be all right. So I will do it."

I would donate money to the church, but I would not donate a lot. I would let everyone know that I did not believe in giving my money to some preacher. I would make that point very plain.

I would also know the Bible and would quote Scripture at every opportunity. But I would quote it out of context as to cause confusion and doubt.

To my friends and contacts, I would commend the preacher's sermon. The I would say, "But ...," and begin tearing it down bit by bit.

I would also make other attempts to discredit the church. What can be more juicy than the rumor that Mr. So and So is having an affair with the wife of some other church member, or especially the wife of a deacon?

I would be hard as a nail, unloving, unforgiving, grudge-holding, grasping and selfish. If I were the devil, I would get in the middle of many religious groups to get the souls for hell that I may have otherwise lost.

I do not think the devil will waste much time with those who are in his camp. He does not work on them; he makes life comfortable, in their way, for his own.

He is a recruiter, and he wants those of us whom he does not have. I think he is after active Christians, trying to tempt us, trying to get us to make errors, trying to discredit us.

I believe there is a battle within each Christian and that we must never let our guard down. This is one reason why we have a need for a strong, constant prayer life. Just about the time that we start to feel secure, here comes the devil and WHAM! We stumble.

Food sorting—Miles Burnett, John Koch, Daniel Rutledge and Bill Koch help sort food for the Thanksgiving food baskets at the Hancock County Food Pantry.

Pack 381 spent time doing for others in November, December and January.

The two Webelos' dens assisted the St. Vincent de Paul Society with their Thanksgiving food drive in November.

In December, 23 scouts and adults helped Our Lady of the Gulf (OLG) gardeners pull up weeds, rake leaves and generally spruce up the grounds before the Christmas services.

In January, our Pack held their own beach cleanup. Forty one scouts and adults braved the rainy day to collect 27 bags of trash from the beach in front of OLG. Pack 381 is sponsored by Our Lady of the Gulf Parish.

Children's Choir. Frost remarks that, "Shepard and his wife, Anne-Lise, do so much for so many and carry hope to the poorest of the poor." Last year the group spent time at the Baphumelele Orphan Care Center doing infant care and teaching Healing Touch techniques to the women who care for the children.

Rosie Mashale, the director, also operates a nursery school across the street for the children in the community.

Rosie said, "It all started when I found a baby on my door step -- I prayed and got instructions to take care of the children. She has taken in 60 parentless children of all ages and operates totally on donations from individuals.

The many long and difficult years of Apartheid in South Africa created huge populations who were forced to live in outlying communities, separated according to race. The biggest problems have been huge percentages of people unemployed, poor to no healthcare and discrimination. Nelson Mandela led the country to end Apartheid 10 years ago but it will take time and much work to provide basic care and "to put" the necessary infrastructures in place to deal with the devastating epidemic.

If you would like to donate to this project or to learn more, please visit www.lightcenterks.org Tax deductible donations can be sent to The Light Center, 1542 Woodson Road, Baldwin, Kansas 66606, earmarked for South Africa. 100% of funds go directly to the project.

Mary Frost can be reached directly at Tothealt@aol.com and will be available to give presentations after returning from the trip in March.

houses, in the family room. You know the room. It's the one where everyone sits, the room that has the big TV, that's open to the kitchen and that looks out over the backyard patio.

Houses nowadays have these rooms. They're an obligatory item, sort of like the third bedroom and the second bath. If you are in good with your builder he will even throw in the backyard patio at just a little extra cost. You have privacy and family togetherness, but with a much smaller "family" than the ones we had years ago.

Today, just as obligatory there is the living room and the front porch. You don't ask for these things, you just get them, they're part of today's basic house plans, sort of strange dinosaur appendages that come with a modern house.

No one, not even guests ever sit in the living room. These rooms often have the sterility of the old fashion parlor. As for the porch, it's built only four or five feet wide, barely room to walk to the driveway to get to the car. There may be some cutesy wrought iron furniture, but no one ever uses them.

Why is it that these porches are there at all? They are relics of days gone by; days of shoo flies, piers, and gazebos.

They exist like a person's appendix.

We are born with our appendix because they are in the original body plans. Having an appendix can't be changed until somebody in God's bodyworks come out with a new model. Don't wait for that to happen. Look how long it took them to get us to walk upright.

So nowadays we have that stupid narrow porch.

You find them in some form or other on almost every new house. And they are absolutely useless.

Would it be costly to make them say eight feet wide, or better ten? Not really. The cost in man-hours is almost nothing. The cost of framing and laying concrete on an eight-foot porch is essentially the same as a four foot one. The cost in materials is not much greater, slightly longer boards and a wee bit more concrete. Not enough to even consider when the costs of the overall house are considered. The same contractor that was willing to throw in a back patio should, for near the same price, throw in the wider front porch.

Picture yourself on the new extended porch lying with decadent elegance on your lounge, the ceiling fan wafting cool air down on you and your teen age son / daughter (the one that's doing so well in school and you are saving money so diligently for college) asking you sweetly, "Dad would you like me to get you some cool lemonade?"

It can happen.

Tell that contractor to extend that porch. No wait; tell him to make you "a long, cool veranda."

Newspapers In Education is a program in which newspapers supplement traditional teaching materials in the classroom. N.I.E. programs are provided to local schools through paid sponsorship programs.

Newspapers In Education programs teach with the newspaper. Students learn to become critical thinkers through reading, analyzing and discussing newspaper stories and editorials. They use the knowledge they gain to engage in conversations with peers and family members.

If you would like to be an NIE SPONSOR or if you are a teacher and would like to use the Echo's N.I.E. program in your classroom you may contact RETA BREUN, N.I.E. coordinator at THE SEA COAST ECHO 467-5474.

Food sorting—Miles Burnett, John Koch, Daniel Rutledge and Bill Koch help sort food for the Thanksgiving food baskets at the Hancock County Food Pantry.

Pack 381 spent time doing for others in November, December and January.

The two Webelos' dens assisted the St. Vincent de Paul Society with their Thanksgiving food drive in November.

In December, 23 scouts and adults helped Our Lady of the Gulf (OLG) gardeners pull up weeds, rake leaves and generally spruce up the grounds before the Christmas services.

In January, our Pack held their own beach cleanup. Forty one scouts and adults braved the rainy day to collect 27 bags of trash from the beach in front of OLG. Pack 381 is sponsored by Our Lady of the Gulf Parish.

Beach cleanup—The participants pose for a picture before they hit the beach to collect trash.

Children's Choir. Frost remarks that, "Shepard and his wife, Anne-Lise, do so much for so many and carry hope to the poorest of the poor." Last year the group spent time at the Baphumelele Orphan Care Center doing infant care and teaching Healing Touch techniques to the women who care for the children.

Rosie Mashale, the director, also operates a nursery school across the street for the children in the community.

Rosie said, "It all started when I found a baby on my door step -- I prayed and got instructions to take care of the children. She has taken in 60 parentless children of all ages and operates totally on donations from individuals.

The many long and difficult years of Apartheid in South Africa created huge populations who were forced to live in outlying communities, separated according to race. The biggest problems have been huge percentages of people unemployed, poor to no healthcare and discrimination. Nelson Mandela led the country to end Apartheid 10 years ago but it will take time and much work to provide basic care and "to put the necessary infrastructures in place to deal with the devastating epidemic."

If you would like to donate to this project or to learn more, please visit www.lightcenterks.org Tax deductible donations can be sent to The Light Center, 1542 Woodson Road, Baldwin, Kansas 66006, earmarked for South Africa. 100% of funds go directly to the project.

Mary Frost can be reached directly at Tothealt@aol.com and will be available to give presentations after returning from the trip in March.

THIS MESSAGE IS BROUGHT TO YOU BY THE NEWSPAPER AND THE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA

BSLLT presents 'Dark Deeds'

THE SEA COAST ECHO

"Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will present Dark Deeds at Swan's Place or Never Trust a Tattooed Sailor, a tongue-in-cheek melodrama, written by Tim Kelly. BSLLT dedicates these performances to the memory of actor-director Teddy Stechmann, who always wanted to present a melodrama.

Set in the Old West during the 'Gold Rush' the story is loaded with laughs and comic delight, seedy jokes, and escapist entertainment. The villain and his henchwoman make a tidy profit shanghaiing young lads to ships that sail from California to the China Seas.

They operate from a disreputable tavern owned by a grizzled prospector, who dies and wills the tavern to an innocent niece, an orphan.

The villain must get rid of the damsel. Enter an English sailor with a love for the theatre. He offers the niece his protection and the hilarity goes into high gear.

Soldiers, widows, society matrons, cowboys, mysterious figures, and a crusty sea captain collide to make the mirth even merrier.

Performances on March 18, 19, 25, 26 at 8PM and March 20th, 2005 at 2PM at the John F. Holmes Playhouse, 301 Boardman Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Dark Deeds is directed by Larry Clark, assistant director Roxanne McCabe, with an ensemble cast including Jack Schornick, Glenda Schornick, Kathy Mauffray, Lex Mauffray, Chris Flynn, Cheryl Grace, Libba Tallant, Sandy Reese, and newcomers to BSLLT, Annette Allard as the orphan heroine, Ken Wesley as the Englishman hero, Deborah Goudeau, Belle Penrose, Stephen Dardar, Bob Davis and more!

Tickets will be available at the door and also at the Bay St. Louis Chamber Of Commerce beginning March 15th. Reservations not required!

NBC's 'SNL' documentary doesn't pull any punches

By John Crook
© Zap2it

When NBC schedules a two-hour sweeps special called "Live From New York: The First 5 Years of Saturday Night Live," it's easy to expect a cheap, self-congratulatory clip job.

Easy, but oh, so off the mark. This fascinating two-hour documentary, premiering Sunday, Feb. 20, on NBC, is a warts-and-all account of what it was like to be swept up in this irreverent and exhausting TV phenomenon, by the people who went through the experience - at least, those alive to tell of it.

Original cast members sharing their impressions of those heady days include Dan Aykroyd, Chevy Chase, Laraine Newman and Garrett Morris.

"Bill (Murray) was going to be a part of it, too," says writer-director-producer Kenneth Bowser, "but the scheduling kept getting screwed up. I'm not sure what the story is with Jane (Curtin). She didn't reply to our invitation. I think she has said all she has to say on this particular subject."

But that doesn't mean Curtin's ex-castmates aren't free to talk about her, which they do with respect and candor, recalling that Curtin was a sensible, down-to-earth and practical woman whose work ethic was wildly at odds with the party-hearty atmosphere around her. This helps explain why she and hard-living John Belushi pretty much loathed each other.

Among other blunt assessments by writers such as Al Franken and frequent hosts such as Candice Bergen, Steve Martin and Eric Idle are acknowledgments that rampant drug use took its toll on the show, as well as why virtually the entire creative team opted to follow Lorne Michaels when he left after season five.

"I think Lorne looked at my films and saw that I could go after a subject without making people look like (jerks) but also be true about it," Bowser says of the special. "He really wanted to let somebody from outside do this project, because he knows he can't be objective about some things. As far as I know, Lorne still hasn't seen the film, but he gave me full and total access to anything I needed."

Josh Cooke

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Josh Cooke wasn't entirely happy to be on the West Coast when winter storms blasted the Eastern Seaboard last month.

"I'm from Philadelphia. I'd love to see some snow right now," says the actor, who plays neurotic Nate Solomon in NBC's new Tuesday sitcom "Committed."

A stage-trained newcomer to series television, Cooke won his role largely because he is able to keep his tightly wound character grounded in reality. "When I explained the character to my mother, she said, 'Sounds as if he could be a little over the top,' and that was also one of the producers' concerns," Cooke says.

"Both Nate and Marni (Jennifer Finnigan) are larger than life at opposite ends of the spectrum, but I think both of us do our best to let one character balance the other out as much as possible. But I actually do know people who are like Nate, the paranoid conspiracy theorist, and as long as I play it as realistically as possible, I think it keeps it in check."

The 25-year-old actor found a recent press tour for TV critics a little overwhelming.

"All of a sudden, I'm walking around in this room with Bebe Neuwirth, Patricia Arquette and these other really great actors," he says. "And I had to walk down the red carpet, which is the absolute downside of the experience. I'm a fairly shy guy, and that is the most self-conscious I've ever felt."

He was also startled but flattered when a hardware store manager recognized Cooke while waiting on him.

"As I was leaving, he said, 'I love the show, which was nice. I'm having to adjust to that. Now, when people stare at me, I don't automatically think, 'Do I have something on my face?'"

Rusty Wallace prepared for life after final Nextel Cup season

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

Rusty Wallace may be retiring from NASCAR Nextel Cup competition at the end of this year, but that doesn't mean you'll find him lounging around the country club.

Wallace, you see, has plenty on his plate away from his No. 2 Dodge. He is full owner of Rusty Wallace Inc., a Busch Series team making its first full-season run in 2005; he's part owner of a Cup team, Penske Racing South; and he has several car dealerships. He's also helping his 17-year-old son, Steven, who is running his first season in the Hooters Pro Cup Series. With only so many hours in the day, something had to give, and that turned out to be his 21-year Cup career, during which he has amassed 55 wins, a points title in 1989 and top 10 points totals in 16 of the past 19 years.

But if there is one thing the 48-year-old Missouri native would like to accomplish this year, it is to finally win a Daytona 500. He'll get one last shot at taking the checkered flag in the "Great American Race" Sunday, Feb. 20, when he takes to the track at Daytona International Speedway against a field that includes Jeff Gordon, Tony Stewart, Jimmie Johnson, Mark Martin, Matt Kenseth, defending race champion Dale Earnhardt Jr. and 2004 points champ Kurt Busch. Viewers can catch all the action on Fox.

Wallace recently discussed his long career and looked ahead to his 22nd season behind the wheel.

Q: Does it seem real yet that this is the last year?

A: No, it doesn't. It's just amazing how fast things happen. We were talking earlier I said, "God I just remember coming in for my very first race in 1984." I remember going to Daytona. I remember driving the Gatorade car, and I remember coming out of the back straightaway at Daytona, and the rear end broke, and the rear end flew out from under me. I remember winning my first race and all these different things, and it's just hard to believe that 21 years just went boom, gone. But I love what I'm doing. I'm at the top of my game, still. But I've always said, "God I want to go out on the top of my game."

Q: What do you want to accomplish this year?

A: My No. 1 goal is to win the Daytona 500. I've never won it. I've almost won it three or four times. We tested really well down there, so I feel really good about it. No. 2 goal is to get the car in the top 10. And No. 3 goal is to win the last race of the year at home. Wouldn't it be cool to win and close 'em out? Say, "You know I had a great career and I did it my way." And I won't look stupid out there running around.

Q: Of what accomplishments are you proudest?

A: The accomplishment I'm probably proudest of is being voted one of the top 50 all-time drivers in NASCAR. That was a good one. I'm proud of being crowned the short-track king. I'm proud of all the road course wins that I've had. That's been really good. I really love working with my sponsors. I love doing speeches. I love going around the country trying to meet the sponsors' goals and I feel like I'm pretty good at that and I enjoy doing that. That's been one of my crowning achievements, I guess you could say. But on the racetrack, performance-wise, like I said, all them short-track wins, all them road course wins. It's been something I think about all the time.

Q: You've placed in the top 20 in points in every one of your seasons and in the top 10 in 16 of the last 19. To what do you attribute your consistency?

Rusty Wallace gets behind the wheel of his No. 2 Dodge for one last go-around in the Daytona 500, which Fox broadcasts from Daytona International Speedway in Daytona Beach, Fla., on Sunday.

A: I've been able to surround myself with good people. No. 1, No. 2 is just to keep my head in the game when it comes to the setup of the car. You know, we can do everything in the world, but when they bolt your ass in that car and you gotta go out there, that thing has got to handle right. If it doesn't handle right, you don't win, you don't get the accolades, you don't do the sponsor stuff, you don't get everybody telling you how great you are - all that crap. You gotta keep your head in the game. I teach my kids all the time, Steven coming up, I said, "You can't be one of these drivers that say, 'I can drive the car, but let this guy work on it. Let this guy tell me what to do.'" I see all these new guys come up and they go, "Man, I'm a great driver but I don't know how to work in a car." You gotta understand the car. I built my own cars, my short-track cars. I welded them, I painted them, I loaded them. I did engine work. I did the whole thing. And you've got to be really, really involved in that chassis. You've got to be totally connected with that thing to be a consistent, successful individual.

Moving 'Mountain' doesn't pay off for WB

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: What happened to the show "The Mountain"? There was never any buzz about it, and now it's disappeared! Julie, New York.

A: You've answered your own question in a sense; it's precisely because there was never any buzz about it that it disappeared. The WB Network made a switch of nights between that show - which featured Oliver Hudson and Anson Mount as resort-operating siblings - and the much-better-reviewed "Jack & Bobby," hoping the new slots would help the programs. Almost immediately, it was apparent that "The Mountain" wasn't faring any better on Sunday than on Wednesday, so the end of 2004 also signaled the end of the series.

Q: "American Idol" is back. Will "Nashville Star" be back, and if so, when will it start? Anonymous, via e-mail.

Oliver Hudson

A: The country version of "Idol" is returning, and sooner than you might think. The USA Network talent competition begins its third season Tuesday, March 1, with LeAnn Rimes replacing Nancy O'Dell as host. Montgomery Gentry, Sara Evans and the Charlie Daniels Band are among the guest stars announced thus far for the show's new season.

Q: After seeing the movie "Beyond the Sea," I remembered Bobby Darin having a TV variety show in the late 1960s or early '70s. Could you give some info about the show? Tony B., Willowick, Ohio.

A: Good memory. The singer-actor - currently being played on the big screen by Kevin Spacey - had an NBC series that ran from January to April in 1973. Not only did he sing on the show, he also played various characters in comedy sketches. Before the year was out, Darin would be mourned by his fans, since he died after undergoing open-heart surgery in December.

Jennifer Finnigan gets 'Committed'

Jennifer Finnigan

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

Fear is an option for former "The Bold and the Beautiful" star Jennifer Finnigan, who segued from her role on the daytime drama to star in the wacky NBC relationship comedy "Committed" as the kindhearted Marni.

"I was really afraid to tackle comedy because, obviously, doing a soap couldn't be more polar opposite," Finnigan says. "But it is funny because Marni is more me than any other character I have played. I am such a goofball, and this character allows me to tap into that part of myself."

As for a return to soaps, Finnigan says, "Never say never, but to be honest, I am constantly looking for new ways to challenge myself. If I grow familiar with a certain medium, I tend to become complacent, and I never want to do that because I am much too passionate about what I do. Right now, I feel as if I have been there and I have conquered it. At present, I am doing something that scares the hell out of me, but I love it."

Over the Christmas holiday, "Passions" star Heidi Mueller (Kay Bennett) became engaged to actor Matthew Lawrence. The couple plans to marry in June 2006.

In other "Passions" news, NBC announced it was giving the series an early pickup for its seventh year, while over at "Days of our Lives," the long-running daytime drama airs its 10,000th episode Monday, Feb. 21.

Dear Paulette: Is it true that the actress who played Phoebe Wallingford on "All My Children" died? I just saw her on the show. -Shelley S., Port Washington, Wash.

Dear Reader: Yes, it is true. Ruth Warrick, who played the "AMC" matriarch, died Jan. 15 of complications from pneumonia. She was 89. Warrick made a brief return to Pine Valley for the show's 35th anniversary.

Susan Lucio released the following statement: "Ruth Warrick was my first mentor. Over the years, she not only shared her talent and grace, but she did so with the entire country."

Donations in Warrick's name may be made to Broadway Cares/Equity Fights AIDS or Gilda's Club NYC.

Family Best Bets

Sunday	Monday	Wednesday
12:30 p.m. and TBS Movie: Ghostbusters Bill Murray, Dan Aykroyd, Harold Ramis and Ernie Hudson star as ghost exterminators who are quickly promoted from capturing the occasional poltergeist to saving the world when a powerful demon tries to take Manhattan. Sigourney Weaver plays the pretty musician who catches the eye of Murray's character, and whose building is ground zero for the demonic invasion. Rick Moranis, William Atherton and Annie Potts also star.	7:30 a.m. on USA Movie: The Little Rascals Penelope Spheeris ("Wayne's World") directed this charming 1994 comedy, which transplants the Our Gang kids to the '90s with their '30s innocence intact. Alfalfa (Bug Hall) incurs the wrath of the He-Man Woman Haters Club when he falls for the lovely Darla (Brittany Ashton Holmes). Eventually, all learn that girls are people, too. Whoopi Goldberg, Mel Brooks and Reba McEntire have cameo roles.	6:30 a.m. on AMC Movie: Hello, Dolly! Barbra Streisand stars in this 1969 adaptation of the Broadway musical as the widowed matchmaker who turns her talents to fixing herself up with a crotchety merchant (Walter Matthau). Songs include "Before the Parade Passes By," "Ribbons Down My Back" and the salutatory title tune. Louis Armstrong and a pre-Phantom of the Opera Michael Crawford also star.
Tuesday	Tuesday	Saturday
3 p.m. on NICK Movie: Maniac Magee Michael Angarano stars as 12-year-old Jeffrey Lionel Magee, an orphan with the ability to move at lightning speed. His goal is to unite two differing sides of his hometown. Actress Jada Pinkett-Smith narrates this 2003 tale based on a novel by Jerry Spinelli. Melissa Bickerton, Orlando Brown and Caylen Clark also star.	8 p.m. on HALL Movie: The Runaway While on an adventure, pals Sonny and Luke (Dwayne McLaughlin, Cody Newton) find a skeleton that may be one of the victims of a legendary serial killer. The case was never solved, because it was 1940s Georgia and all the victims were black. A new sheriff (Dean Cain), who doesn't share his predecessor's prejudices, reopens the case, to the townspeople's consternation. Maya Angelou co-stars as a mysterious local mystic known as the Conjure Woman.	2:30 p.m. on TNT Movie: Back to the Future Part III In this entertaining 1990 conclusion to the fantasy trilogy, time traveler Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) goes back before his own era. He pursues his scientist friend Doc Brown (Christopher Lloyd) to the Old West, where Doc finds romance with a schoolmarm (Mary Steenburgen). All of them find lots of traditional frontier adventure, leading up to a satisfying conclusion to the series.

February 20 - 26, 2005

Sunday Best Bets

12 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
NASCAR Racing

Dale Earnhardt Jr. tries to join Richard Petty, Cale Yarborough and Sterling Marlin as the only back-to-back Daytona 500 winners when the 47th "Great American, Race" ushers in NASCAR's Nextel Cup season today. But he'll attempt to do it with a new crew chief — Pete Rouseau replaces Tony Eury — and a new car; Earnhardt's winning 2004 ride has been on display for the past year at a Daytona International Speedway museum.

7 p.m. on 38-WB
Charmed

In the new episode "Showhous", Phoebe, Paige and Drake (Alyssa Milano, Rose McGowan, Billy Zane) try to help a man (guest star Charlie Robinson) who's channeling the spirit of a fire victim from 1899. The spirit is pleading for help on behalf of all the souls trapped at the scene and forced to relive the disaster over and over. Phoebe and Drake go back in time to the night of the fire and get stuck there. Holly Marie Combs also stars.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS
Nature

The new episode "Snowflake: The White Gorilla" remembers one of the most unusual animals ever held in captivity. The only known albino gorilla in the world, Snowflake was a star attraction at the Barcelona Zoo for nearly four decades. His unusual appearance was a double-edged sword, however, as it left him susceptible to a rare skin cancer that cut his life short. His handlers and others who worked with him tell his story.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Desperate Housewives

Desperate Housewives
In the new episode "Impossible," Mike (James Denton) is questioned in connection with the murder of Mrs. Huber. A friend of John's (Jesse Metcalfe) threatens to expose Gabrielle (Eva Longoria) but will keep quiet — for a price. Tom (Doug Savant) has a chance to be promoted at work, but Lynette (Felicity Huffman) is against it because he'd be away from home too much. Teri Hatcher also stars.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS
Movie: Stone Cold

Tom Selleck stars in this new mystery as Jesse Stone, a former Los Angeles homicide detective now serving as police chief of a sleepy New England fishing village. When the town is hit by several murders and a rape, Stone must get his own act together — he overindulges in liquor and ladies — as well as get his inexperienced police force up to speed on solving major crimes. Mimi Rogers also stars.

hosts and others involved with "SNL" then and now.

8 p.m. on BRAV
Sarah Jones

The versatile star of the off-Broadway one-woman show "Bridge & Tunnel" brings her act to television in this new hourlong special. Jones transforms herself into such varied characters as an Italian-American policeman, a homeless woman, an aspiring rapper and a sharp-tongued Hispanic woman. The show isn't just a series of monologues, however; Jones' characters also interact with one another onstage and with the public on the street.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Live From New York: The First 5 Years of Saturday Night Live

Remember the Coneheads? Emily Litella? Chevy Chase's clumsy President Gerald Ford? Dan Aykroyd's terminally mellow Jimmy Carter? John Belushi's manic samurai? Those immortal bits from the "Saturday Night Live" past, and those who brought them to life, are celebrated in this new special. It includes interviews with producer Lorne Michaels and cast members, guest

9:03 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Boston Legal

Freddie Prinze Jr. reprises the role of Donny Crane in the new episode "Tortured Souls." It's payback time for Denny (William Shatner), who recently revealed to Donny that they're not father and son after all. Now Donny is opposing counsel in his ersatz dad's latest case, and this time it's personal. Kerry Washington ("Ray") guest stars for several episodes as associate Chelina Hall. James Spader, Monica Potter and Rhona Mitra also star.

7th Heaven
Is there another Camden grandchild on the way? That's the rumor that arises when Simon (David Gallagher) asks Matt (Barry Watson) to prescribe birth control pills for his girlfriend. She's not pregnant, which is fine with Eric and Annie (Stephen Collins, Catherine Hicks), who have a more pressing concern: the fact that Kevin (George Stults) keeps a gun in the house. Beverly Mitchell also stars in the new episode "Brotherly Love."

Everwood
Memories of his pre-Everwood past fill Andy's (Treat Williams) head when he accompanies Ephram (Gregory Smith) to New York for his audition. Still struggling with the question of whether to tell Ephram about Madison's (Sarah Lancaster) pregnancy, he's jolted into action when Madison turns up in Manhattan and runs into Ephram. Emily VanCamp also stars in the new episode "Mountain Town."

9:30 p.m. on 4-CBS
CSI: Miami
Horatio (David Caruso) and his team have two time-sensitive cases to solve in the new 90-minute episode "Nothing to Lose." First, there's the killer who escaped from prison and must be found before he claims another victim. Then there's a murder scene in the Everglades that's about to be consumed by fire. Emily Procter, Adam Rodriguez and Khandi Alexander also star.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC
Medium
Allison (Patricia Arquette) dreams that her soldier brother, Michael (guest star Ryan Hurst, "Remember the Titans"), is killed in Afghanistan. When he shows up alive, she realizes he's inherited psychic ability, too — and he's not thrilled about it. Allison also investigates an arson involving a little girl and a mysterious man. Jake Weber, Miguel Sandoval and Sofia Vassiliev also star in the new episode "Lucky."

Gilmore Girls

Luke (Scott Patterson) is asked to do set construction for a school production of "Fiddler on the Roof" in the new episode "Jews and Chinese Food." He says yes, hoping it'll be a point of contact with Lorelai (Lauren Graham), who's designing the costumes. Rory and Marty (Alexis Bledel, Wayne Wilcox) have dinner with Logan (Matt Czuchy) and his friends, and Marty is miserable. And the bombshell Rory drops doesn't help his mood.

8 p.m. on 4 CBS

One Day at a Time
Reunion Special

Before "Gilmore Girls," there were the Romano-Cooper girls: newly single mom Ann (Bonnie Franklin) and daughters Julie and Barbara (Mackenzie Phillips, Valerie Bertinelli). In this new special, the trio and co-star Pat Harrington — aka Dwayne Schneider — reminisce about the hit sitcom and how it reflected the 1970s and early '80s in both subject matter and fashion. Also weighing in are regulars Nanette Fabray, Glenn Scarpelli and others.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Frontline

The new episode "A Company of Soldiers" takes viewers to Baghdad with the U.S. Army's 8th Cavalry Regiment in the weeks after the presidential election back home. More than just a video clip and sound bite-sized glimpse of troops in action, it's a personal account of the dangers facing the company as attacks by Iraqi insurgents increase.

8 p.m. on 54-LPN

Veronica Mars

Alyson Hannigan ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer") guest stars as Trina, Logan's (Jason Doherty) half sister, in the new episode "Ruskie Business." Veronica (Kristen Bell) helps a woman who's trying to locate a former lover, but Keith (Enrico Colantoni) intervenes when he learns the woman has a hidden agenda. Teddy Dunn and Francis Capra also star.

8 p.m. on USA

Movie: Get Shorty

With a sequel coming out soon, it's a good time to take a second look — or a first one — at this 1995 comedy. A loan-shark (John Travolta) who's also a film buff heads to Hollywood to hunt down a movie producer (Gene Hackman) who is late on some important payments. He tries to break into show business and is aided in his quest by a B-movie scream queen (Rene Russo). Danny DeVito and David Paymer also star.

8:19 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

According to Jim

In the new episode "The Wedding Dress," Cheryl (Courtney Thorne-

Smith) offers Dana (Kimberly Williams-Paisley) the use of her bridal gown. What she doesn't know — and what Jim and Andy (Jim Belushi, Larry Joe Campbell) will go to great lengths to keep her from knowing — is that the dress was destroyed years earlier during a sports victory party that got a little heated. Taylor Atellan also stars.

Nate (Josh Cooke) accidentally takes a Communion host at a funeral in "The Statue Guy Episode." Flustered, he tries to return it to the priest without calling too much attention to himself or inadvertently committing some sacrilege. Tess (Tammy Lynn Michaels) decides to check out Miami's (Jennifer Finnigan) shampoo guy after hearing he has a magic touch. Darius McCrary also stars in the new episode.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Judging Amy

Amy's (Amy Brenneman) 40th birthday comes with an unpleasant surprise in the new episode "Happy Birthday." She gets help handling the bad news from a stranger (guest star David Eigenberg, "Sex and the City"). At work, Amy is bothered by her latest case: a 13-year-old girl who shows no remorse for causing a friend's death. Tyne Daly and Dan Futterman also star.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Former prosecutor Alexandra Cabot (Stephanie March) returns from the dead in the new episode "Ghost." Presumed deceased, she's actually in the witness protection program, from which she emerges to help Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Chris Meloni) investigate a pair of drug-related murders linked to the guy who sent her there. Nicholas Gonzalez ("The O.C.") also guest stars.

NUMB3RS works with the National Transportation Safety Board on the investigation of a deadly train wreck. He discovers that this is no isolated incident; not only have there been several copycat wrecks, but a strange numerical code has been found at the scene of each one. If ever there was a case tailor-made for Don's math-whiz brother, Charlie (David Krumholtz), this is it. Sabrina Lloyd also stars in this new episode.

Easily the best of the four films in the series, director Richard Donner's 1976 original is a wonderfully eerie tale. It focuses on a U.S. ambassador and his wife (Gregory Peck, Lee Remick), who open their hearts and home to a cuddly child — unaware he is the Antichrist and will grow up to wreak horror on the world. David Warner — who redefines "losing your head" here — and Billie Whitelaw co-star.

The Detroit Pistons will have LeBron James and the Cavaliers in mind when they begin their longest road trip of the season tonight. No, it doesn't start in Cleveland; Rip Hamilton and the Pistons are actually in La La Land for a stiff test against Kobe Bryant and the Lakers, the first of six straight and eight of the next 10 away from the Pistons' home. How they fare in that stretch will be a key to Detroit or Cleveland winning the Central Division.

In Focus

Whether or not he believes in unidentified flying objects, "World News Tonight" anchor Peter Jennings has spent a lot of time thinking about them lately, as evidenced by the latest edition of his recurring ABC series "Peter Jennings Reporting," airing Thursday, Feb. 24.

Subtitled "UFO: Seeing Is Believing," the two-hour program finds Jennings discussing the topic with scientists, government officials and - as one might expect - individuals who claim to have had close encounters with aliens.

Sydney and Vaughn (Jennifer Garner, Michael Vartan) have old enemies to face - as Nadia's (Mia Maestro) life hangs in the balance - in a new episode of "Alias" Wednesday, Feb. 23, on ABC.

Sydney is up against Anna Espinosa (guest star Gina Torres, previously featured on "24"), while Vaughn's opponent is someone who is no stranger to fans of this espionage series: Mr. Sark (guest star David Anders), who proves to be every bit as elusive and lethal as he ever was.
